Now read on, and enjoy learning how your success will be made.

Are you really sure you want this?

First of all, it is really important we understand each other. I know you will have some preconceptions about the methods I'm about to present to you, its only natural. So please note the following:

When we hear someone talk about something we think we have heard or learned before, it is easy to switch off, turn to someone else for conversation instead, or skip to the next chapter – depending on what media the learning is being delivered from.

You may think you have heard some of the tactics and teachings in the early part of this report before, but please read it all. Even if it sounds familiar, you really need to read it all to appreciate how this system makes it different. You have a unique business-building device at your fingertips, please make sure you know how to use it.

However, I am not one to force methods and means of earning onto people who don't want to learn them. So, if you're not committed to building an income online, or if you don't want to learn the system at our site, please stop reading now and close this ebook. Lets not waste any more of each other's time.

Now that we're clear - now that you truly appreciate the importance of this information - lets move on.

How Money is Made by Successful Internet Marketers.

Still here? Good. OK, we are going to begin with the single most important theory for making money online. This is the way most of the entrepreneurs I mentioned earlier did it. But they did it without the short-cuts you're going to get.

When they did it, our site didn't exist. It wasn't an option. They had to go through all the hoops that we have already done for you.

I'm going to explain the method because its important you know what it is, but your work time will be a fraction as much as those pioneers who have gone before. What you're getting here is the glory without the pain. The fruit without the reach. The jam without the wait. In a few moments, you will see why our site gives you the best method of building wealth online. Watch this – its easy.

The importance of a list

There are many clichés about listbuilding and if you've been seeking an income online for even a short time you'll have heard many of them. The oldest (and most boring) simply states “the money's in the list”.

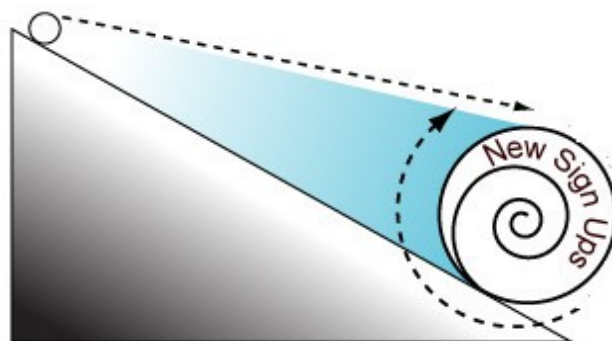

Its boring because its obvious, and its as true today as it was a hundred years ago. No business can survive without a customer base. And that's all your list is, a customer base.

The big difference is that with our site you don't need a product to build a customer base. You don't even need a business. We will get you making money and building your own list whether you've got a product to promote yet, or not.

And it will be a list that makes you money.

Think of it like this. When you begin the journey to making your living online, you have a car with no wheels. But you can only move forward when you've got wheels. So how do you get wheels?

Your wheels are your list. Your list is what gives your online business momentum and the bigger it gets, the faster it grows... like a snowball:

Internet Marketing has a number of big list holders. You're probably familiar with some of them, you might even be on their lists... people like Mike Filsame, Ewen Chia, Tellman Knudson, Shawn Casey, Tim Brocklehurst... These Internet Marketers have lists of many thousands. When they send a single email to their list, they can expect an open-rate of 10-20%, depending on the day of the week and the time of year. Of those, they might get a purchase rate of between perhaps 2% and 5%, depending on the product and the sales page.

So lets be conservative and lets take Mike Filsaime as an example. Lets suppose that his list is 200,000 (I happen to know its a lot more), and he mails for a product that sells for $100. His commission is 50% (that's small for an info product), so he's making $50 per sale.

Now, using the worst-case scenario of the above percentages, lets look at how just one email to his list performs...

He mails to 200,000. He gets an open rate of 10% and a buy rate of 2%.

$10\% \times 200,000 = 20,000$  people who read the email.

$2\% \times 20,000 = 400$  people buy the product.

$400 \times $50 = $20,000$  earned from that email.

Yes – thats twenty thousand bucks from a single email promoting a $100 product to his list. And all that money is his. He doesn't have to share it with anyone...

Does this explain why its important to build a list... ?

And please, don't be like all the gone-before failures on the Internet and say, "I could never build a list of 200,000 people. I'm not Mike Filsaime". If you want to succeed, you can, and you will.

There are hundreds of other online marketers earning thousands every week this way, from all manner of business backgrounds and education.

It really isn't as daunting as it sounds, and I'm giving you a unique system that will build it well, and build it fast.

The simple way of building a list

A list is merely a collection of people who have expressed an interest in what you are offering. And in case you're saying "I don't have anything to offer", don't worry, we will give you plenty of things to offer later on without any more work on your part. First of all, just be sure you understand the basics of the list.

For each person on your list, you will have two pieces of data. A name and an email address. You need the name so you can write to people personally, and the email address so you can automate your messages to them. Both of these items are important and there is no need for any more. The less information you ask for, the more people will join your list. Keep it simple.

The page you use to collect names and emails (where your visitors join your list), is called a squeeze page. In its simplest form it is merely a headline, a set of bullet points, a paragraph of text and two text boxes for the signup form. But you don't need to worry about creating these either, we will give them to you.

You need to store your list securely online, in a place where it is easy to send a mass email. Then you can broadcast your chosen message, promoting your affiliate product to a captive audience with minimum effort.

our site provides you with this storage. It also provides you with the products and the squeeze pages for building your list. Everything is done for you. You can email your list frequently with your own offers, or ones we will give you. Either way, you will earn money from them – as soon as you've got a list.

If ever you need inspiration, further ideas for products, or interaction with other list-builders working this same method, just peruse the MVS forum. Register and introduce yourself first, and then check the different sections for ideas of products and squeeze pages that will build your list.

Once you've got a single signup on your list, your car has a wheel: Your list exists and the forward motion has started. But you need more, you need hundreds - thousands - to begin going somewhere. Remember the percentages. Not everyone will open your emails every time. They may be on holiday, or just away from their computer on the day you mailed. Or they might just have more important things to do. It takes a few emails for people to get to know you, and to understand how useful your messages are. Don't expect too much too soon. Show patience with them and you will be rewarded.

Remember too, in order to make money online, you can't expect your list to buy the product you're offering every time. So be realistic. If you want to make good money, don't stop at a list of 100, don't even stop at 1,000 or 10,000 – keep going, keep building. Its a percentages game and besides, the more signups you get, the faster your list will grow and the more money you will earn. Once you get your first signup, you're at the beginning of an unstoppable Upward Spiral.

Be Sure Your List is Listening

Nothing, on the Internet, is worse than Spam. We all hate it. The last thing you want to do is send emails to people who don't want to receive them. Aside from the irritation you pour on them, it is wasteful and deceitful to entice people to open your emails on the pretense it will help them when it doesn't. So, you must let people unsubscribe from your list if they don't want to receive your emails any more, and if they make that decision, you should let them go. You don't want people to hear you unless they're listening to you.

The difference between the successful list-builder, who builds a list of thousands, and the unsuccessful one who gives up after struggling to get 100, is that the successful one has a higher read-rate. Only if your list listens to you are they ever going to buy from you, so don't be afraid of opt-outs. If they're not interested in what you're selling you shouldn't be interested in keeping them, let them go. There are plenty other fish in the sea.

our site has an unsubscribe link built into it so you don't need to worry about making this option available to your list members. It also has a reminder of the date they joined your list, the email they submitted at sign-up and the IP address they signed up with. These items of information are enough to reassure your readers that they are listening to you for a reason. This, in itself, is enough to make more of them listen than unsubscribe.

How to earn money while you build your list

Whenever someone signs up to your squeeze page, they are actually committing themselves to your product. They are showing enough interest in your free offering to be qualified as a buyer of your paid product. So you need to show them your paid product straight away.

Its a fact. The best time to sell someone something online is immediately after they have signed up to your squeeze page: Open the door to your shop, and then show them what to buy.

A good conversion rate on a sales page presented straight after a squeeze page is 12%, a poor rate is 3%. So you should expect at least 3 sales for every 100 people who join your list immediately. The rest are still on your list, but will take a little more persuasion to get a sale. More about that later.

If your conversion rate is less than 3% then its likely that your offer doesn't compliment your squeeze page.

There are many variables that will affect your conversion rate. The most important of these are price, the product's relevance to the squeeze page and the source of your signups (if they don't have the means to pay, its impossible for them to buy no matter how good the

If you've never earned anything online yet, everything is about to change. If you've yet to earn a dollar from your efforts online, our site makes it possible for you to do so today, now, immediately. Everything is in place, the squeeze page, the sales page, the list collection mechanism, everything. So if you've yet to get a sale from all your online effort to date, get ready. The excitement begins here... but before we get started, lets look at ways to multiply your returns and get it working on autopilot.

Add a Viral Dimension to Your List Building

When you read the conversion percentages I've quoted in this report, what do you think? Is it daunting to imagine getting 100 people to signup to you list for 12 sales? Have you already got a list of 100? If you have, could you convert 12 of them to buy from you with a single email? I doubt it.

Yet this is the conversion rate you can gain when you present a sales page straight after a squeeze page...

So how easy is it to get 100 signups?

Well, lets look briefly at the ways of getting people to visit your squeeze page. Each of these will be expanded upon in future products you'll get (free) from our site so for now I will merely list a few of them to give you an idea...

Methods of online advertising

- Pay-per-click Advertising
- Article Marketing
- Traffic Exchanges

- Safelists
- Blogging
- Web 2.0 Strategies
- Ezine Advertising
- Surf Exchanges
- Solo Ads
- Offline advertising (take an ad in the Biz Opps section of your local newspaper).
- Co-Registration

Each of these methods requires time, effort and in some cases, money. But they, and more, are all important to a serious online business-builder. I'll be giving you ways to get stuck into each of them soon.

But what if you weren't the only one building your list? what if everyone on your list was building your list too? Imagine how fast it could grow if everyone on your list was also using these methods to create a list of buyers. Think of how much bigger it will get, and how fast when it has all the effort of your list members behind it as well as you...

When your list builds your list, you you are using viral marketing. It means that without any further expense or effort on your part, you are generating more customers... and you are doing it through leverage of your existing customers.

The effect is like that rolling snowball depicted earlier, getting bigger and faster with every signup. It is what The Internet is good at. It is what enables all the entrepreneurs I mentioned earlier to earn millions of dollars every year. It is what you need to succeed.

How to Build, and Earn from, a List of 1,705 in 7 Days...

If you apply the viral factor to your Internet Marketing, your list will grow at an exponential rate. It will take-off faster than you could ever manage on your own, and it will accelerate more the bigger it gets.

Imagine this scenario... Through your own efforts, you manage say 10 signups in a day. One of them buys the product on your offer page and you earn $20 for it. Great!

Can you get 10 signups a day? - of course you can, just by using one or two of the traffic methods I listed earlier.

But then think what happens when the people who joined your list on day 1. read this ebook and begin building their list the same way as you. OK lets be realistic. Not all of them are going to have the same motivation as you. Some will act straight away while others will take more time to get their list started.

So lets be conservative in our projections. Lets imagine just 3 of the 10 signups you get every day gets active building a list too, and to be ultra-cautions, lets say they're not as successful as you and they only get 5 signups a day.

Following is the result of such a scenario. It illustrates how, with those simple metrics as an example, you can get 1,705 fresh list members by this time next week...

%age signups getting signups 30%
 Daily signups earned by active affiliates 5

	Day 1	Day 2	Day 3	Day 4	Day 5	Day 6	Day 7
Your Daily Signups:	10	10	10	10	10	10	10
Your cumulative total	10	20	30	40	50	60	70
2nd generation		15	30	45	60	75	90
3rd generation			23	45	68	90	113
4th generation				34	68	101	135
5th generation					51	101	152
6th generation						76	152
7th generation							114
Daily Total	10	25	63	134	256	453	765
Your Cumulative List Size	10	35	98	231	487	940	1705

Results of getting 10 signups per day, 3 of them getting a further 5 signups per day.

our site works your list on a 4x4 matrix to ten levels (not to be confused with generations). This means no matter how many signups you get, you will only have four on your first level and then they will begin passing to your second. There is room for 16 on your second before they pass to your third, and so on. Each level is limited by the power of 4. So with ten levels, your maximum list size is 4<sup>10</sup> or 1,048,576.

Do you think that's big enough?

Well, imagine for a moment, the money you could earn from sending a single email promoting a $100 product to a list that size. Lets say you will earn just 30% commissions and just 10% of your list open your email. Of them, just 2% buy the product...

Here's the math:

$$1,048,576 \times 10\% \times 2\% = 2,098 \text{ buyers earning you } $30 \text{ each.}$$

$$\text{The answer: } $30 \times 2,098 = \mathbf{$62,914.56}$$

And that comes from just from a single email which probably took you just 10 minutes to write.

Now do you see how list-building with our site makes sense?

How to get started

As we've just seen, if all criteria are met, then whatever your list size is currently, this time next week you can expect to add 1,705 more to it with just 10 signups of your own per day.

You're reliant on your signups doing their bit too. But if they read this ebook, why wouldn't they? Are you prepared to work at it and get a list of thousands within a month?

Come on, lets get started. The following section will show you how to get your first 10 signups. With a little extra effort you might even achieve more...

We have a ready-made squeeze page for you, and the first thing you must do is get the URL for it so you can put it under the nose of as many prospects as possible. Lets say it converts at 5% (5 of every 100 visitors sign up) that means you've got to show it to 200 people per day to get your 10 signups. With a well targeted campaign, you can expect a much higher signup rate than that, but its a useful benchmark...

Create a promotion URL

With our site you're going to get numerous free products, all with ready-made squeeze pages, which you can give away in return for new members on your list. Think of this ebook as your first product. There will be more coming in the next few days.

With each one we will also provide a recommended offer page, one which you can get an affiliate ID for, so that your signups are immediately presented with something for sale, something which complements the free offer on the squeeze page - something that will earn you money while you're building your list.

If you see this, then you will gain by building your list, and earn directly from the offer page. Plus, you will also earn from the affiliate sales gained by rebranding the ebook with your own affiliate URLs. Enter your Clickbank ID, or click on “Get ClickBankID” to get one, and your Paypal email so you can get paid for your efforts. More will be explained on this later, in Step 4.

Most advertising tools on the Internet limit the amount you can say, so choose your words carefully. Try and make what you're offering unique. Internet users are faced with thousands of ads per day and you need to avoid making your ad sound too samey.

At the same time, you need to pitch them with something that only draws the right people coming to your page: i.e people who will sign up. Getting the wrong people wastes time and can cost you money (especially with pay-per-click advertising).

There are thousands, hundreds of thousands of people out there who want what you're advertising. You just have to think of who they are and what will make them act. Then pin it down to the best single sentence you can that will bring them to your squeeze page.

Quick Tip: It is always best to have a call to action in your ad: Join Now!, or Read This Now! By giving your readers something to do at the end of your ad you will convert a lot more signups.

Following are some examples:

Sometimes you will have more text to play with. How you deal with it is down to your own creativity, but remember the golden rules of online advertising:

Use curiosity, scarcity AND/OR urgency.

Always imagine people won't do anything unless they absolutely have to.

When writing your online ads you will only cause action by using one of these three motivators

Curiosity... example: “Click here to see how much you can earn...”

Scarcity... example: “Only 23 copies remain... act now to get yours!”

Urgency... example: “This offer remains free until Tuesday Only. Don't miss out!”

Remember, when it comes to getting traffic to your site, no single way is the one and only correct way. You need a multitude of different traffic pullers, all working hard to get visitors to your squeeze page. Once you've got a few signups, you'll have fun building trust, building a relationship and making sales. That, after all, is why we're here.
